ADVANTAGES

For over twenty-five years, the National Registry of Environmental Professionals (NREP), a not-for-profit organization founded by Dr. Richard Young in 1987, has been credentialing qualified professionals in environmental and safety fields. NREP is the largest not-for-profit accrediting organization and is recognized by the United States Department of Energy (DOE) and United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

The National Registry of Environmental Professionals has established a network of over 15,000 members worldwide, who exemplify the highest professional ethics and standards. Our members demonstrate commitment to their respective field by the continued accumulation of knowledge and experience.
